The author declares to have no conflict of interest.

It's a known fact that fugitives on the run guise themselves to prevent detection. With good facial surgery being undertaken frequently, law enforcing authorities have a torrid time tracing the offender with a new face Orthognathic surgery to a large extent offers a good guise as criminals go scott free for a longer period of time. Hence meticulous record keeping is the order of the day and every suspect should be radiographically examined for the presence of surgical hardware in the facial skeleton. In suspicious cases the surgeon too needs to be tracked down to assist investigation
